FEAR POLICE MORE THAN MOB

WASHINGTON, MARCH 6.—
Tales of indignities and affronts from the crowds and indifference and laughing comments from the police, were recounted today before the committee that has begun an investigation into the alleged lack of protection given the suffrage pageant of last Monday.

Women prominent in national affairs and in suffrage councils told of their harassed progress through surging crowds of men and boys whom the police they said made little effort to hold back. Their stories differed in detail because of the various viewpoints from which the Pennsylvania avenue march had been viewed but their statements as to the general attitude of the police were endorsed by Rear Admiral Van Rippon, retired, and George F. Bowerman, librarian of the Carnegie library of Washington who appeared as witnesses against the police department.

Afforded No Protection.

Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau of the department of commerce and labor, one of the marchers in the suffrage parade said the few police she saw seemed to be merely "standing in the front row of the spectators." Miss Harriet Taylor Upton of Warren, Ohio, in charge of the Ohio division of the parade declared that "crowds of young men" surged in so close to the marchers, could hardly march two abreast, that "good natured drunken men" pushed against the marchers' lines without restraint by the police and that the few officers in sight did nothing to protect the procession.

Raps Plain Clothes Men.

She declared the police laughed at the scenes and made no effort to help. The most inefficient she said were the plain clothes men, sworn in for the occasion who carried their authority in the badges on their coats. Mrs. Agnes N. Genks of Concord, N. H., who had her daughter and other young girls with her in the New Hampshire division told one of the most striking stories. She declared uniform policemen had encouraged the crowd in its disorder, and that she had been so alarmed at the action of the officers toward the young girls that the children were placed in the center of the procession where they were protected by older women.

Frightened By Police.

"The crowd hooted and jeered," she said, "men tried to get the flowers from our coats; and one man stuck his foot out in front of my daughter and tried to trip her. At another point two policemen in uniform were standing together talking and were encouraging the crowd to jeer us. One policeman looked as though he was going to take hold of the young girls who were marching with us. We were more frightened by the police than by the crowds."

Did Not Get Numbers.

None of the women could give the number of the policemen who had exhibited indifference or antagonism although several thought they could identify some of them. The witnesses declared there seemed to be no successful effort to control the crowds until the cavalrymen came on the scene.

Mrs. Verna Hefield, who rode on the old liberty bell float testified that a man in the crowd caught her by the foot and that she kicked him lose. Another caught her sister by the hand and others rubbed their arms. Miss Patricia Street, assistant director of the parade, testified that a drunken man spat tobacco juice in a woman's face when she reached out to push him back from the line of march.

"I struck the man across the face, and a policeman tore my coat in pulling at me," said she. "I remonstrated, he said 'there would have been nothing like this happen if you women would stay at home.'"

Boy Scout Knocked Down.

Phillip Elliot, a thirteen year old boy scout told of being knocked down by a policeman whom he was trying to help push back the crowd.
Senator Pendergast who marched in the parade declared on the stand that when an automobile ambulance tried to drive through the parade lengthwise in the presence of the police he concluded that an deliberate attempt was being made to break up the parade.

Mrs. Jeannette Gallinger, sister-in-law of Senator Gallinger was among others that testified.
The committee will resume the hearing Saturday.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MURDER

PROFESSOR AT MINNESOTA SCHOOL
KILLS LAUNDRY DRIVER

Demonstrator at Minnesota School of Agriculture Surrenders to Police After Killing—Has Been Connected With College Many Years.

ST. PAUL, MARCH 6.—Stoically indifferent, Prof. Oscar M. Olson, demonstrator at the Minnesota School of Agriculture tonight, although facing a police charge of murder slept peacefully in a cell at the county jail.
Prof. Olson early to day surrendered to the police, admitting it is said, that he had shot and killed Clyde N.
Darling, a laundry driver.

Olson hearing was to day postponed until Saturday. Coroner Jones following a post mortem examination tonight announced that Darling's death was due to a wound of the lung caused by two bullet wounds.
"Prof. Olson made a statement to Coroner Jones and myself, late to day in which he asserted that his wife had told him all," County Attorney O'Brien said tonight. Details of the statement were not given out for publication.

Al Anderson, a government employee whom Olson is said to have led to the scene of the murder, last night told the police that Olson disappeared indifferent as to the shooting.

"Prof. Olson called me out of bed told me to get a lantern and follow him," Anderson said. "We went immediately to the Olson home. Entering the summer kitchen I nearly stumbled over Darling's body. Olson only smiled."

There evidently had been no struggle. Darling's coat and hat was burning from the powder and I extinguished the fire. Olson said we had better call the police. He stood by my side while I talked to them over his telephone."

Darling according to the police was shot late last night just as he entered the rear door of a small summer kitchen of the Olson home. According to the police Olson saw Darling passing the window and seizing a revolver hurried to the back door of his home, pressed the muzzle against Darling's breast, and fired.
Two shots within two inches from one another took effect.

"It was simply the unwritten rule" Prof. Olson is quoted as saying in reply to the questioning of the police, and is said to have declined to talk further concerning the case until he appears in court.

Darling served a year at the state reformatory several years ago after pleading guilty of embezzlement.
Olson has been connected with the state agricultural college ever since a lad either as student or instructor, with the exception of one year spent at Pullman, Ill.

Wife Collapses.

Montevideo, Minn., March 6.—Mrs.
Oscar M. Olson who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gallagher, near here collapsed when told that Clyde Darling had been shot and her husband arrested. Mrs. Olson came here with her parents from Iowa when a child and was married to Prof. Olson about six years ago.

McREYNOLDS' BUSY WITH U. S. P. DISSOLUTION PLAN

No Definite Result Has Been Reached at Conference and Negotiations Will Be Continued.

Washington, March 8.—Revision of the plan for dissolving the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger to overcome the objections of the California Railroad commission was considered today by Attorney General McReynolds and representatives of the railroads. No definite result was accomplished at today's conference and the negotiations will be continued. Mr. McReynolds, who took the oath of office this morning, occupied practically the whole day considering the intricate dissolution problem. Asked for a statement on his anti-trust policy, he simply said:
"The Sherman law will be enforced impartially."

The new official indicated that he would not make any sweeping changes among officials of his department, expressing the hope that most of the forces would remain. He appointed as his private secretary Frank Cole, of New York, who served in the same capacity under Attorney General Wickersham.

sisting of A. Miller, Streator; R. A. man, Watseka, to plan for an educational campaign among farmers looking to a larger production of cream. The meeting was attended by sixty Illinois and Indiana butter manufacturers.

mack so announced this afternoon.
Mr. Cormack declined to make public the text of the challenge or to comment on it in any way. It would be considered by the members of the club he asserted before it would be acted on.

FIRST OFFICIAL CABINET MEETING

President Wilson Sees
Many Phases That Go
With His Position

MEETS MANY VISITORS

Shakes Hands With Nearly a Thousand East Room
Visitors

TUMULT SPENDS BUSY DAY

WASHINGTON, MARCH 6.—
President Wilson saw most of the phases that go with the presidency today. He met his cabinet for its first session of official standing, received the congratulations of some of the kings and emperors of the world and replied to them; talked with several men mentioned repeatedly for diplomatic posts; shook hands with 330 east room visitors; was consulted about the legislative program of the Democratic congress and edited his action to his word by declining to interest himself in patronage matters until one of his official family had been seen.

The day lacked some of the rush of yesterday, but it was busy enough to keep the president on the jump most of the time, and to force Secretary Tumulty to spend many crowded minutes out in the corridors of the executive offices disposing of callers at a rapid fire rate.

The president quit work promptly at 4 o'clock and went for an automobile ride with Mrs. Wilson. Tonight the president saw William McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee and Joseph E. Davies, its secretary. Both men have figured prominently as possible diplomatic appointees. They were closeted with the president in the white house proper. Mr. McCombs arrived first and stayed but a short time, and Mr.
Davies did not appear until after the white house dinner was over.

Mr. McCombs said he had not discussed the matter of accepting the ambassadorship to France. His visit concerned questions of patronage. Intimate friends of Mr. Mc-Combs say he has not yet decided whether to accept or decline the offer of a foreign post. He has been consulting his friends, some of whom have advised him against relinquishing the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. His health, however, requires a trip and whether or not he takes the proffered position he will leave soon for Europe.

Appointed Chief Clerk.

Meritt O. Chance, secretary of the commission on efficiency and economy, was today appointed chief clerk of the postoffice department by Postmaster General Burleson. He succeeds George Thomson, who resigned to enter the service of an express company. Mr. Chance has previously been connected with the postoffice department and for a time was secretary to Senator Root when the latter was secretary of war.

May Select Olney.

Probably the first diplomatic appointment President Wilson will make will be that of ambassador to Great Britain. He has not finally decided upon any one though there are several names being considered.
Those who have advanced the candidate of Richard Olney, believe that he is a likely selection and say that though Mr. Olney is advanced in years, he is still very active.

Inauguration Cost.

Woodrow Wilson's inauguration as president of the United States cost approximately $73,000. The expenditures of the citizens' inaugural committee were about $8,000, while the receipts from all sources were approximately $34,000.
The deficit of $14,000 will be made up from the guarantee fund of $88,000 which was subscribed in Washington. The joint congressional inaugural committee spent about $25,000 appropriated by congress.

Marble Appointment Approved.

Marble's appointment of J. H.
Marble as interstate commerce commissioner to succeed Franklin K.
Lane now secretary of the interior was approved today by the senate committee on interstate commerce.
His name will be favorably reported to the senate tomorrow and it is expected that appointment will be immediately confirmed.

New Labor Department.

The new department of labor, with Secretary Will B. Wilson at its head, was in full swing today but dependent upon charity of Secretary of Commerce Redfield for quarters.
As no appropriation has yet been made for the new department Secretary Wilson not only is serving without salary for the time being but cannot hire office quarters. The new department consists of the old bureau of labor, changed to bureau of labor statistics, the bureau of immigration and naturalization and the children's bureau.

From the old department of commerce and labor, the department of commerce retains the bureaus of commerce, census, foreign and domestic commerce, standards, fisheries, lighthouses and navigation, cost and geodetic survey and steamship investigation service.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS HOLD FURTHER CAUCUS

SENATOR KERN ANNOUNCES STEER-ING COMMITTEE

Progressive Democratic Leaders
Were in Complete Control of Election of Organization Committee.

Washington, March 6.—Progressive Democratic control of the senate was advanced another important stage today in the second day's session in the caucus of Democratic senators. The choice yesterday of Senator Kern of Indiana as senate leader was followed today by the election of a Democratic organization committee on which the leaders of the so-called Progressive forces were in complete control.

"The steering committee," which is to map out a program of reorganization to determine the entire question of control was announced by Senator Kern as follows: Senator Kern, chairman, Chamberlain, Owen, O'Gorman, Smith, (Ga.), Lea and Thomas.

All questions of senate patronage were referred to a special committee consisting of Senators Overman, Shively, Johnson, Hitchcock and Williams. The choice of senate officers was put over until tomorrow when the caucus is to be resumed.

It is expected that Senator Bacon will be elected president pro tempore but there are many active candidates for the positions of secretary and sergeant at arms. While the Democrats were in session the Republican steering committee, consisting of Senator Lodge, Warren, Nelson, Penrose, Smoot, LaFollette, Brandage, Smith, (Mich.), Crawford, Jones and Fall met and canvassed the committee lists to determine what positions they could ask for.

A delegation consisting of Senators Nelson and Smoot was sent over to the Democratic caucus, to learn what arrangement the Democrats intended to make about giving minority appointments to the Republicans but no plan had been decided upon by the Democrats. It is anticipated that the Democrats for naming committee will not be completed for some time. The active leaders of the Progressive forces are insistent that the places on the important committee shall be distributed evenly among Democrats and the work of organization shall proceed slowly.

COURT CONFIRMS SQUATTER'S

TITLE TO SMALL TACT IN GARY

Fisherman Holding Land in Midst of Great Corporations Land Will Not Be Ousted.

Hammond, Ind., March 6.—Richard Much, a fisherman and a squatter on two acres of shore property in the midst of the United States Steel corporation's land in Gary, Ind., had his title confirmed today by the Indiana supreme court. Much's two acres were overlooked when the steel corporation purchased the land for the site of Gary. His ground at that time was worth about ten dollars. When the oversight was discovered it was found that Much's property prevented the closing of Clark road through the huge Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad yards.

Much refused to move or to put a price on his property. Attempts to condemn the property were met by Much with a fight in the courts. He won on every appeal, including the supreme court, which said the final word today. The Clark road is crossed by 26 tracks. The railroad will have to leave it open for a street or pay Much for his tract.
He is said to demand a small fortune for it.

BILLS FOR REINSTATEMENT

DISMISSED FOR WANT OF EVIDENCE

Ousted Cook County Civil Service Commissioners Lose Chance of Retaining Offices.

Chicago, March 6.—"Dismissed for want of equity" was the fate of the bill of Frederick Greer and Guetavis Tatge, ousted county civil service commissioners to obtain reinstatement in Judge Honore's court today. Judge Honore also dismissed the bill of complainants to join their successors in office of transacting official business.

Greer and Tatge were ousted when the supreme court at Springfield, invalidated the civil service law of Cook county. They held that the dictum of the supreme court was not in effect at the time of their dismissal as a petition for a rehearing had not been acted upon.

Judge Honore stated that he was compelled to act on the assumption that the supreme court would affirm its own decision.

MRS LEITER DIES.

Washington, March 6.—Mrs. Levi Leiter, widow of the former Chicago merchant, died at her home here this afternoon of apoplexy.

Funeral arrangements had not been made to day.

Members of the household thought the burial might be in Chicago.

Mrs. Leiter was Mary Theresa Carver, daughter of Benjamin Carver, a descendant of John Carver, first president of Plymouth colony.

She was the mother of four children one of whom was Mary Victoria Leiter, who was married to Lord Curzon of Kedleston, Viceroy of India. A son, Joseph, lives here.

FEAR MEXICAN GUNBOAT

EL PASO, TEXAS, MARCH 6.—
With the ex-rebels of Chihuahua declaring neutrality toward the Sonora revolt the situation to day awaited the entrance of federal troops. Relying under the constitutionalist banner and proclaiming state's rights the new rebels late to day not only destroyed the railway north and south of Hermosillo but cut all telegraph wires. This enforced the most effective news censorship from the state capital. Following the decision of the state authorities to denounce Huerta's government, groups of anti-rebels formally threatened the posts of Agua Prieta and Nogales on the Arizona river.

Fear is felt by the large American colony at Empalme, near Guaymas, that a Mexican gunboat will shell the California golf port preparatory to landing Huerta soldiers to move against Hermosillo.

"That matter does not directly interest me," said General Pascual Orozco, Jr., to day when news reached his camp below Juarez of the Sonora rebel commander-in-chief.
The former rebel commander-in-chief has received no request from the provisional president to take the field against the Sonora troops as reported yesterday. It was said such a request would meet with a refusal by nearly 15,000 troops under Orozco's command.

Orozco again made clear his stand toward the provisional government at Mexico City declaring that he only accepts Huerta in event that the land grant promises of the Madero revolution will be kept.

Joining Revolt.

Douglas, Ariz., March 6.—Maderista sympathizers former Orozco revolutionists and other rebel elements to day are flocking to Hermosillo capital of the Mexican state of Sonora, to join the formidable revolt proclaimed by the Sonora congress yesterday against the Huerta regime.

The government at Mexico City, on its side, has not been idle. Reports from the south this afternoon are that more than 2,000 Huerta troops already have entered southern Sonora, and that more are being pushed from the state of Sinaloa.

Attack is Planned.

A plan of the Constitutionalist as to attack simultaneously the border towns in Sonora was reported to day to General Ojida commanding the federal garrison at Agua Prieta opposite Douglas. At once work was begun in throwing up fortifications about the border town.

The Huerta soldiers at Agua Prieta number no more than 100, while the new rebels are mobilizing in large numbers in the mountains to the south.

J. J. Rioz, the treasurer of Cana-nua at the head of 250 Constitutionalist rebels departed to day with the explicit intention of assisting in taking the border town held by Huerta troops.

Troops Move Against Rebels.

Mexico City, Mex., March 6.— Ten thousand seasoned troops are to be placed under command of Brigadier General Samuel Garcia Cuellar, the former chief of President Madero's staff and hero of the battle of Casas Grandes early in the Madero revolution who has been ordered to move against the rebels in the north at an early date.

Two thousand men in addition to those already dispatched are preparing to proceed to Coahuila to give combat to the rebels under Be-nustiano Carranza, the rebel governor. According to the latest information reaching the government, Carranza now has 3,000 men and six cannon. His forces are spread over a large extent of territory from Lampazos throughout the eastern half of Coahuila.

A portion of his forces have taken possession of LaBabia ranch, the property of General Trevino, now governor of the state of Nuevo Leon.
The government is moving troops to Socorro and Mesquite, where the main body of the Carranzistas are said to be, and is daily expecting engagements to be reported at those points.

Jose Cordova, General Orozco's representative is having frequent conferences with President Huerta with an apparently fair chance of solving the problems that have arisen.

Alberto Puente D., ex-governor of Agua Calientes is said a prisoner and will be tried for rebellion. His application for a writ relieving him from prosecution on account of his revolt was to day denied by the court.

ROOSEVELT SENDS ADVICE TO PARTY

PROTESTS AGAINST COALITION BE-TWEEN MEMBERS OF LEGISLATURE

Does Not Want Progressives to Combine With Lorimer Republicans or Lorimer Democrats in Election of U. S. Senator From Illinois.

CHICAGO, MARCH 6.—"The Progressive party must not permit itself to be tarred with the Lorimer brush."

This is one statement Colonel Theodore Roosevelt made in a letter received from him today by B. F.
Harris, chairman of the state central committee of the Progressive party of Illinois. The letter was a vehement protest against any coalition between the new party members of the legislature and either the Lorimer Republicans or the "Lorimer Democrats," in order to elect a Progressive senator from Illinois.
The letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. Harris:
"Ordinarily I do not like to give advice in local situations. But Lorimerism is a national issue. I believe that the election of a Progressive to the senatorship from Illinois by a combination with the Lorimer Republicans and Lorimer Democrats or either would be a serious blow to the Progressive party. Personally I cannot help feeling that the man who accepted an election to senate at such hands would thereby rule himself out of the party. Only people permanently benefited by such a coalition would be the anti-Lorimer Democrats, the very ones who would nominally be beaten.

"The Republicans in the Illinois legislature have already disgraced themselves in this session by their alliance with the Lorimer Democrats.
I don't know how any man calling himself a Progressive can now join or profit by such a coalition which would include the Republicans and especially Lorimer Republicans and also the Lorimer Democrats.

"I care nothing whether the election is accepted by the aid of the Lorimer Democrats separately or by the aid of both of them together.
Neither do I care whether this aid is given directly by vote or indirectly by abstention. The point is that the Progressive party must not permit itself to be tarred with the Lorimer brush.

"We stand for Progressivism and therefore for progress and not for stool-pigeon progressiveness or for coalition between them and white-washed reactionaries, or reactionaries without the whitewash. Such action as that which I am informed is contemplated would be tantamount to a surrender by the progressives to the invisible government, the bipartisan combine.

"I am concerned with principles; and I believe that the millions of Progressives in the United States are concerned with principles primarily, and with the men only as they represent principles.

"Very sincerely yours,
"Theodore Roosevelt."

ASK STATES OFFICIALS TO CO-OPERATE IN FIGHT

O'Hara Asks Other States to Aid in Fight Against White Slave Traffic.

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Acting Governor Barrett O'Hara today asked the co-operation of governors and legislatures in each of the forty-seven other states in the anti-white slave crusade of which he is the head in Illinois.

Mr. O'Hara, in this connection, sent a letter to the governors of various states in which he states that the investigation of the white slave traffic in Illinois made by the committee of which he is chairman indicates that much of this traffic is in interstate.

In order to stop this traffic, Mr.
O'Hara suggests that a commission similar to that in Illinois be appointed in each state and that all work together for the suppression of "white slaving."

APPLY FOR CHARTER.

Rockford, Ill., March 6.—Application was made today for a charter will erect a new park and finance the present Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league.

The capital stock will be $6,000.

Paso, Texas. The father received the message from his daughter-in-law saying that her husband had crossed the border on business and had been captured by the rebel. He immediately sent her the money.

Expect Attack.

Nogales, Ariz., March 6.—Nogales Sonora, opposite this point is expecting an attack tonight. Little resistance is expected by the small federal garrison as the majority of the townpeople are said to be in sympathy with the constitutional cause. The railroad is moving all the equipment

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS PRESENT FINE PLAY

Members of Senior Class Stage "The Rose of Eden," Before Large Audience—Story of Play and Cast of Characters.

The well known comedy-drama entitled "The Rose of Eden" by F. C. Evans, was presented last night by the senior class of the high school, to a capacity house. There were fourteen characters in the play and music was furnished under the leadership of Paul E. Morrison. The story is told in four scenes and the lines abound with life and action so that the audience was given a splendid opportunity to observe the talent of the performers. Although the students have only been working on the production since Christmas, the work was done most creditably and reflects much honor upon the students. The play was given under the careful supervision of Miss Amanda Kidder, director of the School of Expression of the Woman's College, whose ability in staging plays is too well known to need any complimentary comments. The story of the play follows:

James Gregory president of the Stability Insurance company meets with reverses in his company and needs a proxy which will give him the balance of the votes in the director's meeting. The balance of power lies with Miss Croninshield, who is an old sweet heart of his. He secures her to proxy just before a reception which he is giving in his mansion. The proxy is placed in his safe together with a beautiful sapphire, the rose of Eden, which belongs to Miss Croninshield and both are abstracted from the safe during the evening's entertainment. The proxy is secured by Mrs. Wells, Miss Croninshield's sister, with the aid of James Gregory's son, Willie. The Rose of Eden is secured by the Baron von Strelitz, and his brother, Paul Senetana. The thefts are discovered and in the excitement which follows the Baron is killed. Paul Senetana is arrested and Mrs. Wells succeeds in burning the proxy which her sister had signed. She does this to secure revenge upon James Gregory for a fancied wrong, which she thought he had done her. The closing scenes of the play develop all the individual lines of action so that the play ends happily for all the leading characters. Each of whom are exonerated from any blame concerning any of the events which occurred. The Rose of Eden is restored. James Gregory retains his position at the head of the insurance company and Paul Senetana and Clara Gregory live happily ever after. While all the characters did well, especial mention should be made of Harlan Brown, who took the part of James Gregory. The up-to-date old business man was well portrayed. The part of Clara Gregory, daughter of Jas. Gregory was taken by Lella Struck and that of Paul Senetana by Homer Furr. These two characters were the strongest of the play and their work together was of a superior order. Both had difficult roles and the demands made upon them were varied and exacting. Irene Spears as Miss Croninshield, owner of the Rose of Eden represented the rich spinster. This character holds the key to the entire situation, around which the story is built. Miss Spears met every demand in a splendid manner. Carter Crain was truly a genuine villain while a typical grouch could not have been found in a better person than Judith Davis who acted the part of Jane Salmon. Weir Wood seeking a rich wife and Frank Markkille as "Willie" Gregory were clever parts well taken and in fact the entire cast for amateurs was the occasion of many favorable comments from the audience, who marked their approval by repeated curtain calls. W. G. Bate was the efficient business manager of the play. The following were the scenes and cast of characters:

Scene—An American city.
Act 1—A restaurant.
Act 2—A drawing room in James Gregory's mansion.
Act 3—James Gregory's library.
Act 4—Clara's studio.

4. In the social field—recognition of the high value of woman's domestic and social work, and the incompleteness, harshness and one-sidedness of every circle of man's activity from which woman is excluded.

RUSSIA HOLDS A BIRTH FETE.
St. Petersburg, March 6.—Modern Russia looked backward 300 years today and bowed low to the memory of Michael Feodorovitch, the first of the Romanoffs to occupy the imperial throne. Today was the three hundredth anniversary of his accession and it was observed with impressive religious services through out the empire. Later in the year the tercentary is to be celebrated with elaborate fetes. The imperial family will make a pilgrimage to Kostroma, where the imperial crown was tendered to Michael in 1613, and to Nizhni-Novgorod, Yaroslavl, Rostov and several other cities and towns intimately associated with the early history of Russia.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE GRAND. One of the vaudeville attractions at the Grand is Miss Lucia Reynolds. An exchange says of her:

"Miss Lucia Reynolds, a good-looking 'single,' is a clever entertainer. Musical ballads of 1863 to 1913 is her offering. There is an American variety which has 'gets across,' as the phrase has it. Her first number, 'Coming Thro the Rye,' is sung in the costume of 1863 period. Other numbers, 'The Return,' and 'Take Me Back to Baby Land,' are given in a most gorgeous costume. Miss Reynolds plays her own accompaniment on the piano. She has a superb voice."

The grandest display of millinery in Jacksonville will be shown at Floreth's opening on Wednesday March 12.

SNOWBALLS ROLLED UP HILL BY THE WIND. One of the strangest freaks of snow and wind was witnessed by residents of Davenport, Wash., and vicinity recently when a strong gust of wind from the southeast, blowing for a period of about a minute and a half, rolled thousands of snowballs, some as large as barrels, resembling in every respect huge rolls of cotton batting. A peculiarity of the performance was the fact that nearly all the rolling was up hill and every south slope in Davenport and for miles on each side is covered with balls.

The courthouse lawn contained some beautiful specimens, averaging about 18 inches in diameter, while at Mondovi, eight miles east, the balls were as large as ordinary barrels, all having hoiled up hill. The path for each ball here in Davenport is about 75 feet long.

PHI ALPHA OPEN MEETING HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

Large Audience Hears Illinois College Literary Society in Splendid Program.

A large audience gathered in Beecher hall at Illinois college Thursday night at 8 o'clock to hear the annual open meeting of Phi Alpha Literary society. Many were present from out of town, including good sized delegations from the literary societies at the Woman's college.

The essayist of the evening, Hume Whitacre, '11, taking as his subject, "The New Science," discussed the application to everyday life of some of the latest discoveries in psychology. The essay was written in the form of an imaginary interview with a psychological expert in the year 1923.

Ray H. Bracewell, '15, in his declamation, "Napoleon, Murderer or Patriot," dissented from the common view of the great Frenchman as a merciless conqueror, regarding him rather as one of the world's great "Incarnate Democrats."

Verne P. Mitchell, '16, the orator, gave in excellent style a production entitled "The Inventor." He characterized the inventor as the leader in all stages of the world's progress.

Especially enjoyed, was "A Railway Matinee," the reading, by Clay Elliott, '16. His description of a ride on the "Q" accompanied by a deaf man, a man with red whiskers who stuttered, and a prim and precise old maid in a blue veil who wouldn't under any circumstances make a grammatical error, was laughable in the extreme.

The extemporaneous speaker, Tracie Justus, '16, took as his subject, "What President Wilson is up Against." The seniority rule in congress, placing as it does the older southern senators in the important positions, is a constant menace to progressive legislation.

The question debated was: Resolved, That a literacy test should be required of all immigrants entering the United States. The debaters, all members of the class of 1916, were, for the affirmative, Reuben Cohn and Orville White, and for the negative, Miller Keplinger and Clarence Kimmel. The affirmative took the position that further restrictions were needed upon immigration and that a literacy test would accomplish this in the best manner. According to the negative the ability to read and write is no criterion of good citizenship. The affirmative was awarded the decision for ability and the merits went to the negative.

A session of court was held tonight in an effort to hurry the case through.

DR. FREIDMANN ADMINISTERS SERUM TO FIRST AMERICANS

Serum For Tuberculosis is Given Three Patients at People's Hospital in New York.

New York, March 6.—Dr. Freidmann of Berlin administered today his serum for tuberculosis to two men and a woman, the first patients whom he has treated in America. The serum was injected at the People's hospital for chronic tuberculosis on the lower east side, in the presence of a number of physicians, including representatives of the board of health.

Three patients, two men and a woman, were selected by Dr. Freidmann from fifty tuberculosis sufferers. The woman has been ill three years. Her's is a chronic case of disease at the knee and was the most serious of the three chosen. The two men have tuberculosis of the lungs. Their cases are not beyond the incipient stage, according to the hospital authorities.

Each of the three patients received double injection in the muscle and in the vein. Dr. Freidmann explained to those about him that the first reaction might be expected to be observed after seven days. The patients went to their homes with instructions to return three weeks hence. Dr. Freidmann promised to treat them again at that time. Meanwhile the medical board at the hospital will have the three under constant observation and as soon as results are observable it was announced a statement will be issued. Dr. Freidmann used an ordinary hypodermic needle and made the inoculation in the ordinary manner familiar to physicians.

The New York County Medical society, which had protested against Dr. Freidmann giving his treatment as an individual practitioner because he has no state license, did not interfere with the demonstration. It was explained that he was working at the hospital's invitation in a sense as a resident physician.

Normal had been expected to put Millikin out of the race but their only points were scored on free throws after fouls.

The scores to date were:

Headings, 31; Shurtliff 15.

Wesleyan, 63; William and Vash-ti, 16.

Bradley, 40; E. I. S. Normal, 8.

Lincoln, 32; Lombard, 15.

Millikin, 120; Normal, 8.

Friends in Washington in the house and senate and members of the national committee today presented the speaker with a handsome oil portrait of himself.

MONEY A NATION'S SYMBOL.

Its Appearance Reflects the Character of Its People.

The form taken by money in each country is a curiously accurate indication of the character and tastes of the inhabitants thereof, writes James Davidson Whelpley in the Century. The stately English banknote of splendid workmanship and uncompromising severity, the German note with its rude proportions and florid style of finish, the American certificate of most convenient size, perfect workmanship, crispness of design and with the glint of the metal it stands for; the slovenly Italian paper money, dirty, carelessly cut and to be carefully inspected before it is accepted as genuine, and then the beads and shells of the savage.

There is no better illustration of this reflective character than the money of France. Carefully adjusted in size to fit the wallet carried by every careful Frenchman and all Frenchmen are careful of money—fine of texture, artistic in design and light and delicate in coloring, it possesses a fineness beside which the money of other nations looks cold and brutal. In the same way the French show fineness and subtlety in their manner of living, their loves and hates, their crimes, their politics, their fighting, and even in their trade and manufacture. They have no real competitors in this.

WILSON ACCEPTS.

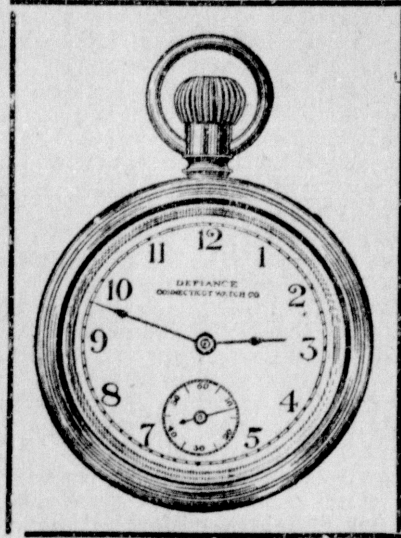

New York, March 6.—Acceptance by President Woodrow Wilson of the honorary presidency of American Peace and Arbitration league was announced by the league tonight.

JANINA FINALLY SURRENDERS TO GREEKS

Fall of Turkish Fortress Prior to Surrender of Citadel of Adrianople is Pleasing to Greeks.

Rome, March 6.—Surrender of Janina today was learned by the members of the large Greek colony here with great satisfaction. The fall of this Turkish fortress prior to the surrender of the citadel of Adrianople in Thrace is especially pleasing to them as it demonstrates they point out, the good military organization of the Greeks. It is the general belief, however, that the undisputed possession of Epirus by Greeks will delay the conclusion of peace as the claims of the allied Balkan nations now will become larger.

Congratulate Crown Prince.

Athens, March 6.—Premier Venizelos announced in the chamber of deputies today, the capture of Janina by Greek forces. All the leaders of opposition spoke congratulating Crown Prince and his army on the brilliant achievement. A telegram was despatched to the Crown Prince in behalf of the chamber by the president expressive of the gratitude of the nation.

At the close of the sitting the members of the cabinet and the deputies, followed by cheering crowds marched to the cathedral where a thanksgiving service was held.

May Hasten Peace.

London, March 6.—The fall of Janina to the Greek arms after more than three months gallant defense by Essad Pasha is expected to have the effect of expediting peace negotiations. It will at the same time add to the complexities arising in the general after-the-war settlement as Janina is one of the cities which, it has been claimed, would be included in the new autonomous Albania.

There has been no change in the diplomatic situation. The reply of the allies with regard to mediation by the powers is still awaited and the orders for de-mobilization by Austria and Russia, which are daily expected, have not been issued.

No confirmation has been received of the reported sinking by a Turkish cruiser of three Greek transports and it is semi-officially denied in Athens.

A Scutari despatch published in Vienna says that the crown prince of Montenegro during the recent fighting had a narrow escape from capture by the Turks, who surrounded and afterwards killed every man of the Serbian battalion which went to the Prince's rescue.

SECURES OPTION ON OSKALOOSA COMPANY

Oskaloosa, Iowa, March 6.—W. B. McKinley of Champaign, Ill., former congressman has secured an option on the Oskaloosa Light & Traction company. The company is capitalized at $350,000 and controls the electric lighting and street railway system of this city.

NEED BIG LOANS.

Tokio, Japan, March 6.—Japan requires $150,000,000, the finance minister informed the Diet today, for the purpose of starting various necessary undertakings. The money, he added, will be raised abroad on short term bonds, to be replaced later by long term securities.

TO MAKE SURVEY OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF STATE

Plan is to Have Local Survey Made Sunday, March 30—Work to be Finished by April 15.

Following the plan of the Illinois Sunday School association, a survey of the Sunday schools of Morgan county will be made Sunday, March 30, by visitors to the schools, and not by the superintendents as has been the rule heretofore. A survey of the entire state is to be made and the reports to be in the headquarters of the general secretary, Hugh Cork of Chicago, by April 15.

Miss Flora Hall, secretary for Morgan county, has received blanks and instructions for the work and her duty will be to send blanks and instructions to the precinct presidents, who will appoint a visitor for each school in his precinct and furnish him with the necessary instruction regarding his duties.

When the visitors have completed filling out their reports they are supposed to turn the papers over to the precinct presidents the day the observations are made and the presidents are required to see that the reports are sent to the county secretary within 48 hours. The county secretary is to compile all of the reports in the county and forward them to the state secretary's office.

The blanks issued for the survey cover nearly every phase in the Sunday school work and while the visitors may think that some of the questions are entirely unnecessary and merely put there for the purpose of filling space, the instructions point out that all of the questions are of equal importance and all should be answered as correctly as possible. The work of compiling these statistics will be quite an arduous task but when completed will contain a vast amount of valuable information.

Aside from answering a number of questions the visitors are requested to make a report of the commendable work of the school, as it appeared to them, and also to give an idea of what changes the visitor would make, were he the superintendent of the school. In this way the state association will not doubt get a large amount of good suggestions from disinterested parties, relative to changes in the methods of carrying on the work. Each school will also be benefited by the movement in that the visitors can gather new ideas from the schools they attend and recommend their adoption in their own schools.

MET INSTANT DEATH BENEATH CAR WHEELS

SAMUEL WILD KILLED BY TRAIN AT MANCHESTER.

Murrayville Young Man Attempts to Catch Fast Moving Freight on Chicago & Alton—Coroner Quinn Holds Inquest.

Anxious to get home that he once more might implore his parents to let him go to North Dakota, Samuel Wild of Murrayville met instant death at Manchester Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, while attempting to catch a through freight on the Chicago and Alton railroad. The young man's body was found twenty minutes after the accident, lying along side of the track, his skull horribly mashed and his right arm cut off. The coroner's inquest blamed no one for the sad accident.

Mr. Wild had been desirous for several days of going to North Dakota, with J. E. Osborne to day and parents had given their consent once, according to the story of the young man, and then later thought it not best that he go. Mr. Osborne has been visiting with relatives in Manchester, so young Wild went there Thursday morning to tell him that he could not go. Mr. Osborne in the inquest stated that he had a long talk with Mr. Wild about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, went along with him to North Dakota. He told Mr. Osborne that he was going home and ask his parents again if he might go. He said that he did not want to wait until the regular passenger train went north but thought he would catch a freight.

The Alton freight No. 88, which passes through Manchester in the afternoon does not stop. No one saw the accident as the agent Frank Lakin was working in the south yards and it will never be known how it happened, or in what manner Mr. Wild fell beneath the wheels. It is said that the train was going about twenty miles an hour and the body was found by the section foreman, George Blackburn about twenty minutes after the train had passed through. The body was lying with the head close to the rail about fifty feet north of the Manchester station. The body gave evidence of being dragged about ten feet. From the shape of the body it must have been picked up and thrown head downward. The skull was mangled and the right arm was hanging by a thread to the body. There were no other bruises on the body except a small scratch on one of the knees.

Coroner S. W. Quinn of Winchester was summoned and an inquest was held Thursday night in the undertaking parlors where the body was removed. The jury was composed of Edward Lashmet, foreman; C. B. Chapman, clerk; Charles S. Heaton, Morgan W. Story, William Moore and E. O. Hess. They gave the verdict that the deceased came to his death by being run over by an Alton freight No. 88 and blamed no one for the accident.

Samuel Wild, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wild, who reside at Murrayville, where he was born and reared. He was 22 years of age and his sudden death came as a great shock to his parents and friends, who will have the sincere sympathy of the community in their deep bereavement. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, William and Taylor and four sisters, Emma, Sadie, Ethel and Mary.

The body was taken to Murrayville on Alton passenger at 8:30 where funeral services will be held, the time to be announced later.

Attend the fast basketball game Saturday night, 8 p. m. J. H. S. vs. Peoria.

Two Generations Now Using It

Nation's Most Popular Laxative
Keeping Millions of American Families in Good Health.

There must be genuine merit to an article that has stood the test of two generations of users.

In the field of medicine none has had greater success, nor retained that success to a greater degree than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin; which is now being used by two generations of people. Its use in families is constantly becoming more general. The reason, primarily, is that it has merit. It is what it represents itself to be, a laxative-temper; it does not make exaggerated claims nor use coarse language to set forth its virtues.

It is a medicine, but so mild and gentle a medicine that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet, in a slightly larger dose, it is equally effective for grown-ups. It is for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels, for constipation no matter how chronic, for dyspepsia no matter how severe, for biliousness, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating, and similar complaints arising from a clogged-up condition of the bowels. It is pleasant to the taste and does not gripe. It can be used with safety and good results by anyone at any age or in any condition of health, and that person's health will improve. Every druggist sells it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

WILL TALK TO SPRINGFIELD MUSICAL PEOPLE

RHEUMA DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

After 25 Years of Misery, this Man Walks, Works and Feels Fine Again.

Right away—the first day you start to take RHEUMA—the Uric Acid poison begins to dissolve and leave the sore joints and muscles. Its action is little less than magical.

RHEUMA works so speedily you actually can feel the Rheumatism leaving the body. A bottle costs 50 cents, and if you are not satisfied Coover & Shreve will return your money. Read this:

"I wish to state to you the facts and nothing but the facts. I bless the day a friend brought me a 50 cent bottle of RHEUMA. I used one half of it and it did me more good than all the medicines I ever tried. I had been afflicted with Rheumatism all over my body for more than 25 years; I could not walk, and was a broken-down man. During that time I spent a small fortune trying to be rid of the horrible disease, but without help. However, RHEUMA reached my case, and I thank God I can again use my feet and do my work."

"Before taking your medicine I was staying with a daughter on her farm, and despite of her loving efforts to tempt my appetite I could not eat. After I had taken RHEUMA two days my appetite returned. Yours for prosperity."—Prof. H. H. Kolling, 7 S. Ninth St., Richmond, Ind., Oct. 10, 1912.

For the Children

Last summer there was a baby parade at Jersey City, and among its many beautiful and interesting exhibits was Master John Lamon, who masqueraded as a hodgepodge. John was one of the hits of the parade. Indeed, he created more laughter than anything else in line. Since then John and his hod have been in demand for numerous entertainments in which children took part. So recently as Christmas John appeared at a costume show given by a settlement house in New York, and needless to say he was hailed with delight by all beholders. John is a good natured lad and is pleased whenever he can contribute to the happiness of others. Doubtless he and his hod will be seen many times this winter in his conical makeup.

Autographs of Noted Men.

When President Taft on Dec. 17, 1912, affixed his signature as the nine hundred and ninety-fourth signer of the autograph collection of Louis Barth of Budapest, Hungary, he added the name of another leader to a collection which has cost indirectly $70,000. Mr. Barth journeyed from Europe to secure the autographs of President Taft, Thomas A. Edison and other celebrated Americans. Andrew Carnegie was the latest to add his name to the collection.

The signatures and sentiments in Mr. Barth's collection are in forty-four languages and include nearly every ruling sovereign of Europe and some of Africa and Asia. He has the autographs of dominant statesmen, leading writers, artists, scientists, actors and publicists.

Theodore Roosevelt signed the album in Berlin in 1910, and J. Pierpont Morgan affixed his signature in Paris in 1911. The collection was started by Mr. Barth eight years ago.

Don Quixots.

Drive a stick firmly into the ground, letting it stand about two feet high. Turn a flower pot over the top. One of the players, with eyes blindfolded, is placed about ten paces distant from the pot, with his back toward it. He is given a cane or a stout stick and at the word of command turns and advances in the direction that he imagines the stake to be, then halts and strikes vigorously at the pot in the endeavor to break it at the first blow.

Each player may have three trials, but must return to the starting place for each stroke. A special prize may be offered for the one who succeeds at the first attempt.

It is very funny to see how far from the objective point the player will wander and how earnestly he will strike into empty space.

What the Ears Indicate.

The thin, angular ear is said to denote bad temper and cruelty. Small and thin ears usually denote delicacy and refinement.

As age increases the ear becomes more angular and marked. People with musical tastes generally have large and prominent ears.

Abnormally large, thick ears are associated with a sensual and coarse nature.

Great philosophers and statesmen have been noticed to have large and sloping ears.

Conundrums.

What kind of a lock is it that no key can be made to fit? A lock of hair. What kind of a crown is it in which we cannot set gems? The crown of the head.

The Judge.

I think he's Judge of all the rest, Our friend the solemn frog; He's Judge of all the water things, The skimming bugs with dripping wings. The turtle on the log, He sits upon a lily pad, And if he sees that one is bad With sternness he will say: "Go hide among the darkest weeds, Down deep among the dungeon reeds, And there repent your wicked deeds. Away, young thing, away!" —Youth's Companion.

CHARGED WITH POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.

John H. Gilpin of Little Indian Arrested at Princeton.

John H. Gilpin, aged 19 years, a farm hand residing at Little Indian, was arrested at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Princeton, Ill., in connection with the robbery of the post-office and general store at Little Indian, Menard county, on the night of Washington's birthday anniversary, Feb. 22. The arrest was made by United States Deputy Marshall James S. Fairchild. Thirty dollars is said to have been taken from the store at that time.

After the arrest the youth was brought to Springfield and taken to the county jail, where he is being held, charged with the crime. The youth's relatives are in Texas at present, and he is making efforts to communicate with them in order that he might be released on bond.

He will be held pending an investigation of the case.

D. L. Harding, who has been conducting a successful grocery business at the corner of Anna and West street, has moved his stock to the building at the corner of Morton and Clay avenues, where he will have larger quarters and an increased stock. Mr. Harding was not dissatisfied with his former location but had not room enough and decided on the change. He will no doubt do a much larger business at his new location. He is experienced in the business and understands it thoroughly.

TAX COLLECTORS BUSY.

Sheriff W. B. Rogers and deputy Eugene Kettering collected taxes in Prentice Thursday. A portion of today they will be at Sinclair for the convenience of those who wish to pay their taxes in that portion of the county.

Grip Not Dangerous When Properly Treated

Symptoms: Headache—Fever—Watery Eyes

Grip, which is very similar to a severe cold, attended by a high fever, requires careful treatment. Unless care is taken, pneumonia often follows. The patient should avoid exposure. Take a double dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to begin with, and then a regular dose each hour. Keep the bowels regular by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. Before retiring, bathe the feet in water as hot as can be comfortably borne. After the fever subsides, take quinine in two or three grain doses, four times a day, for several days.

By taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the very first symptom of grip, it will counteract any tendency of this disease to result in pneumonia.

ALLEGED CRUELTY CASE AT ELGIN HOSPITAL INVESTIGATED

Charities Board Commends Prompt Action by Supt. Hinton—Three Employees Discharged and One Held To Grand Jury.

Judge B. R. Burroughs, representing the State Board Administration and A. L. Bowen, the State Charities Commission, have submitted the report of their investigation of the causes of the injuries sustained by patients. Felix Provancal and William Schuler at the Elgin State Hospital. The investigation continued through two days and a large number of witnesses, both patient and employee were examined. The report shows that Provancal has a broken jaw but being a paralytic far advanced is unable to talk intelligently or to feel pain. He cannot therefore tell how he was injured. Mr. Schuler is of the same type but not far advanced, and at the present time is able to give an account of his injuries. He has a broken right fibula. As responsible for these injuries or having guilty knowledge of them and refusing to tell, the investigators held Beecher Hatcher, Earl Huffine and Charles Nash, attendants on the ward.

Three Employees Discharged.
All three have been discharged. Hatcher has been held to the Kane county grand jury in bonds of $1,000. The other two were arrested but the police magistrate considered the evidence against them too light to warrant holding them. Provancal is very unsteady on his feet and has frequently fallen. It was assumed at first that he was injured in this manner. Questioning of the patients on the ward, however, convinced Superintendent Hinton that Provancal had been hit by Hatcher. Following the Superintendent's inquiry it is alleged that Hatcher approached Schuler and demanded to know what he had told the doctor, whereupon Hatcher clubbed Schuler on the head.

Series of Investigations

Following the Superintendent's investigation he called in the State's attorney, who made his own investigation. Succeeding these two inquiries came the one by Judge Burroughs and Mr. Bowen. All are convinced that one of the three is guilty and the other two know how the injuries were inflicted.

The report says that there is no organized system among the employees to prevent the authorities getting the truth about what happens on the ward, though in this case Nash and Huffine evidently are protecting Hatcher. The investigators say that all other employees conducted themselves in a frank, open manner on the witness stand, while several volunteered information relating to the case. The report commends Superintendent Hinton for the promptness, thoroughness and frankness with which he investigated the case and his courage in not attempting to conceal from the public or minimize the seriousness of the truth.

CHATS WITH GREAT MEN OF THE CIVIL WAR

By Mrs. Gen. Pickett.

Copyright, 1913, by The Press Publishing Co.
(The New York Evening World.)

JEFFERSON DAVIS

On my way from Boston I stopped over in New York once when the ex-president of our Confederacy and Mrs. Davis were there on business connected with his book, and I went to see them.

"Mr. Davis," I said, "had I come from the South I should be laden with loving messages from your people. But even in addition to Boston you are held in high esteem as one sincere, honest and earnest."

"Yes," he said, "though we disagreed on many issues I believe I held the respect of my fellow Senators from Massachusetts."

"But you were not a secessionist in the beginning," Mr. Davis, were you?"

"No, neither in the beginning nor in the ending," he smiled. "But to me the sovereignty of the State was paramount to the sovereignty of the Union. And I held my seat in the Senate until Mississippi seceded and called upon me to follow and defend her. Then I sorrowfully resigned the position in which my state had placed me and in which I could no longer represent her, and accepted the new work to which she called me."

"I was on my way to Montgomery when I received, much to my regret the message that I had been elected provisional President of the Confederate States of America. I regretted it then and have regretted it ever since. For I was a soldier at heart and, though I was Secretary of War under President Pierce and left that office for a seat in the Senate, I was not a politician and had no desire for civil office. It was my hope and ambition to command the Confederate Army and lead it in defense of the right of my home, my people, my beloved South."

"But Mrs. Davis saw in it the hand of God, especially as she did not like Howell Cobb of Georgia, who wanted the Presidency of the Confederacy. But he could not have been elected because he had antagonized the South by supporting Clay's compromise measure of 1850."

"They censured me for not accepting an offer to overthrow the Southern Government, not realizing my helplessness. It was said that Mr. Lincoln submitted to his Cabinet a message which he had prepared for congress and which provided for the payment of the South of four hundred million dollars for her slaves to end the war, but the Cabinet disapproved and that was the end of it."

"But had they approved and the offer had been made it could have availed nothing so far as my action was concerned. Under the Constitution of the Confederacy I had no power to treat with United States Government in any way except the one stated to my Commissioners. We were fighting for the sovereignty of the States, not far for a centralized power vested in one man or one little group of men. However I may have longed for peace and for the comfort of my people I had no more power to act in accordance with that desire without authority from the States than had the humblest soldier in our army."

The worn, feeble old man, broken by weight of sorrows which had fallen upon him, brought me in his sad face and pathetic voice the memory of the suffering he had borne for the whole nation's errors.

"Mr. Davis," I asked, is this story true? That when you were being taken to prison one of your soldiers, at the risk of his life, was running along by the side of your carriage to serve and do your honor as long a time as he could, and one of the federal guard called out tauntingly, 'Well, Reb, you see we've got your president at last! 'Yes', replied the ragged, heart-broken, outraged Confederate, 'and the devil's got yours!', and that you leaned out of the carriage and said reprovingly, 'Sh, my man, sh! If his President had lived yours would not now be where he is.'"

Mr. Davis looked steadily before him with a far away, reminiscent expression in his eyes as if recalling a scene from another life. And, lifting his beautiful hands in that graceful gracious way in which I have seen them raised before a company of his own suffering soldiers in war times he replied:

"These were not precisely my words, my friend. As well as I can remember now I said, 'Peace, my good man, peace. If his President were alive your President would not be where he is to day, nor would his beloved Southland be in the condition in which it will now surely be without the guidance of that fearless humane gentle hand.'"

GIVES INFORMATION ABOUT THE FAR AWAY HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

History of Formation Forms Interesting Chapter in Record of the World--Scenery is Exquisitely Beautiful and Products are of Wide Extent.

(By S. W. Nichols.)

On Board the Steamer Nile for Honolulu.

We have two babies on board and three small children. They are all well and they are much petted by the passengers. The crew is composed entirely of Chinese sailors, while the waiting deck hands and all are of the same nationality. There is a white chambermaid or rather stewardess who is a treasure and the officers are white. The third day of our journey the sea was calm all the while though there was considerable motion to the boat and I was dreadfully annoyed with sea sickness, not enough to lay me out, but sufficient to make me wonderfully uncomfortable and Mr. Ewa, who was worse laid out than I, and the rest of the party stood the journey all right.

The fourth day a Chinese surgeon gave me some tablets that acted like a charm and from that time to the harbor of this city I have been comfortable. There is one large, strong man aboard who suffers dreadfully and I pity him, indeed.

For pastime we have aboard three professional Chinese gamblers who have little portable tables on which are formidable piles of ivory and some small pieces of gold. They use dice and have the spots painted on the table that correspond to the spots on the dice. They look alluringly at the passengers, but so far I have not heard of any victims. Doubtless the words of the "Heavenly Chinese" are still ringing in the ears of the travelers and they don't intend to be taken in.

Two evenings were given to dancing and the preparations were quite elaborate. The whole deck was inclosed with canvass, the whole gaily decorated with flags and all sorts of colors while those who participated were arrayed in their best and the scene was decidedly brilliant. The piano was moved out and well played and I was reminded of Byron's words:

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

The flying fish have not been on their job this time. When I crossed before we saw lots of them leaving the water a few rods, but this time not one has shown himself and the whales have been equally unobedient, but we are hoping for better things between Honolulu and Yokohama, Japan, where we should arrive about the 26th or 27th of this month.

In Honolulu.
The islands are situated in the mid Pacific ocean about 2,000 miles southwest of San Francisco and 4,000 miles from Hong Kong, China, from 18 deg. 45 min. to 22 deg. 15 min. north latitude and while at one time they were almost an unknown territory they are now in the line or path between our country and the orient and frequently visited by passing steamships.

The islands are eight in number and are Kai, Oahu, Maui, Kahoolawe, Lanai, Molokai, Kauai and Nihoa. All of them comprise about an area of 6,700 square miles, of which Hawaii has 4,200, almost two-thirds. They extend from northwest to southeast about 380 miles.

GEOLOGICAL.
The formation of the Hawaiian islands forms one of the most wonderful chapters in all the history of the earth. At one period of the earth only a vast expanse of blue water was to be seen where now rise the beautiful islands which so enchant the traveler. But all at once the vast, seething interior of the earth has usually disturbed and breaks takes place. In the mighty deep and through three miles of water intervenes the immense eruption scorns the liquid obstacles and a lurid, molten mass is raised above the surface and for a time all is quiet, but only for a time, for later on another eruption takes place and another and so the process is repeated, through how many ages not even the most experienced geologist would undertake to say until something like a mountain raises its head and so the process is repeated, the mighty mass boiling up and and up with limitless supply till the mountains almost three miles in height are formed and finally the flow ceases.

But as the lava flows cease, the sea rises after the coming inhabitants of the islands by disposing the lava that lovely plateau, beautiful valleys, rolling hills and plains to be formed while all around the coast no rocks at all are to be seen, only lava lying the dark, making a picture as the waves dash ceaselessly against the banks.

And here appears another wonderful picture of nature so strange, and in fact, inexplicable. No one can think of lava producing anything but rocks and scoria, but in the islands are two distinct kinds of lava, each different from the other; one is called "a" and the other "aa" and the latter remaining in the original state always, while the former disintegrates and forms the original soil of the land, which is a dark, reddish brown, rather pleasant to see, though in the valleys where vegetation has washed down there is some black soil made from decomposing matter. This "a" is found over the greater part of the islands except up the mountain sides. Here and there, too, throughout the islands are to be found what would be called pockets of volcanic rock resembling granite in appearance but not nearly so hard. This supplies material for roads and building and is of good quality. Under Honolulu is also quite a quantity of coral. Coral in all shapes is found about the islands.

The topography of the islands is simply enchanting and the scenery is wonderful. On all the islands the mountains thrown up by the ceaseless activity of the volcanic eruption till its work was done and it ceased, leaving summits from which views unequalled in the world may be had. The mountains are easily accessible, as they slope gradually. All have done their work keeping on piling up till the fires seemed to be exhausted, except in the case of Island Hawaii, the home of Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa, the two great summits to be seen there and which are snow capped the former 13,679 feet high and the latter 13,679 in altitude. In addition to the principal peak or peaks on each island there are smaller eminences and some times high ridges, adding much to the beauty and grandeur of the whole.

Above the land ranges, their surfaces submerged, are the remnants of islands supposed to have been formed as the sea now to be seen and worn away by the actions of many centuries. The island of Hawaii has now the only active volcanoes and they are intermittent and not destructive as Vesuvius and Aetna. Occasionally old Mauna Loa opens out near the summit or down his sides and from an orifice near half mile to a mile long flows a stream of lava terrible to see and wonderful in immensity. The lava flows out in great waves and the intervals are growing longer and the time will probably come when they will cease entirely, as they have ceased on the other islands. The sides of Mauna Loa are almost thirty miles in extent and present a beautiful appearance. On one side the slope is a fine, even, and the crater of Kilauea, which is indeed a wonder. It is a pit almost three miles in diameter and six hundred feet deep, with perpendicular sides, while the surface of the bottom is irregular and at times in spots of several acres breaks out into a boiling lake of molten lava, which goes down instead of up. Along the bottom are dark crevasses with seemingly no bottom at all and they yawn in an uncanny manner and he passes along.

At one side of this bottom is another crater with no bottom to it. It is a thousand feet in diameter and from it perpetually flows a column of smoke and steam and a piece of lava thrown into it makes no sound at all as it goes to the limitless abyss below. Here and there along the way across the bottom of the crater are great spaces of an acre or two in area filled with numerous cracks, from which the heat pours up in a terrible manner and so intense that no one may venture over them with safety. Not far from the crater of Kilauea is a hillside composed of smoking sulphur and not far from this is a pit of hot water impregnated with sulphur and said to make good water for bathing purposes. Scattered about the bottom of the crater are curious mounds of lava thrown up in fantastic shapes, while lava of all shades may be found. One of these is a "hot" lava which is a pit about ten or twelve feet deep with a crust over it and a hole three feet in diameter in the crust. Down this is a ladder and travelers see how far they can go into the intense heat. This place came near losing my life. I was passing by with company of several boys who ventured down two or three steps on the ladder when I waved them aside and told them to let the old man try it. Down I went till I reached the bottom and ascertaining what kind of a place it was, I hurriedly retreated and tried to close my mouth tightly, grab a piece of lava for a souvenir, which burned my fingers badly, and hasten up the ladder. When I was down there I have often remarked that I would hesitate to ask any one to believe such a story if I did not have photographs to prove the assertion. How they were formed no one can tell, for no one was near when it was done.

Occasionally one comes across a great crust many square yards or even rods in diameter and heaved up by vast volumes of gas underneath and held tight in place and so high that many persons can easily find refuge underneath. Sometimes too the fearful heat would melt the under side so that it would drip down in shapes like icicles and have a number of these in my museum which I pulled or broke off from the under side of these wonders.

CLIMATE.
The climate of the islands is peculiar. So equable is it that there is hardly any semblance of seasons. Tornadoes, fogs, hurricanes and even intense heat are wholly unknown, while of course frost is a dream or myth. It is quite amusing to endeavor to describe the climate of the land where ice and snow are experienced. One time a teacher from Jacksonville was telling her pupils about her former home, where in the winter there was snow all over the ground, such as they could see in the distance on old Mauna Loa and they looked and listened in wonder. She told them about skating and tried to explain to them how creeks and other bodies of water would be covered with the material they brought in the ice plant so that people could skate on it. That was a still greater test of their credulity, but when she told them that she had seen ladies wearing veils which had white frost, the result of breath, through the veils, they simply whispered to each other that they did not believe it.

The following table of temperatures in the year 188 is a fair sample of the whole:

January, 70, 61.
February, 69, 64.
March, 81, 62.
April, 82, 65.
May, 82, 68.
June, 82, 68.
July, 84, 68.
August, 84, 70.
September, 84, 70.
October, 85, 68.
November, 82, 64.
December, 79, 61.

The climate of the islands are so far south the winds which prevail across the ocean keep down the temperature, though some who have been there in the winter find it necessary to return after a few years and get the invigorating effects of a cold winter, while others go to the islands to maintain the rest of their lives with impunity.

PRODUCTS.
In the islands is nothing except what has been taken there by the waves of the sea or the hand of man and blessed would it have been could the latter have been more careful in many respects, for noxious weeds are long and the beautiful growths possible in a tropical climate. There are many kinds of palms, while flowering trees abound on every land and make a picture of bewildering beauty. It is useless to attempt anything like a description of the flora of the island and the fauna, for the subject. Flower beds are seldom seen, because there are so many trees with beautiful blossoms on them that they occasion for the work of flower beds. The poinciana regia is a tree about as large as an apple tree and loaded with brilliant red blossoms. The cassia grandis is a tree with a flower as big as a large dinner plate; the golden shower is about the size of a bush and has trees and bushes depending blossoms, while many others enchant the beholder. From forest trees depends the life in vine, much of our trumpet vine and beautiful beyond measure; ferns grow on all sizes and there are even fern trees with leaves each six feet long and thousands of them. Night blooming cereus is a plant to be found almost as plentiful as rag weed in this country. I have seen a tree with a covered with the vines that nothing else was visible and I have seen as many as fifty blossoms out at all once and such a large as an ordinary cabbage head. I have seen a whole pond covered wholly out of sight with lotus flowers, perfectly enchanting in beauty, making one think of the veritable fairy land and the list might be indefinitely increased, for there is hardly a limit to it.

In former times there was much sandal wood, but it has been mostly cut off and shipped away and in those days there was no thought of the future and the trees have not been conserved. The Australian gum is largely used now and another very useful tree is the algaroba, which will grow anywhere except on a bare rock and supplies wood from its branches and produces abundantly a pod not unlike our string beans and valuable for animal feed. The banyan is another tropical wonder and found here. It begins like any other tree, but eventually sends out branches almost horizontal to grow a rather low height. In time the branches send out their roots and rootless which grow until they reach the ground, when they take root and in time there is a pillar growing from the under side of the banyan tree into the ground and if not checked the tree will cover an acre or two in time. It is only curiosity, not having any special value. There are many other kinds of trees valued as shade trees. The golden shower seeds grow in cylindrical pod fifteen inches long and are about the size and shape of a nickel. The pod of the cassia grandis is eighteen inches long and an inch and a half in diameter.

The fruits of the islands are many and being introduced all the time. The banana grows there in a large size and is delicious. Pine apples are plentiful and candling them is quite an industry. The mango is probably the most common and is delicious; indeed, I think it is about the reest fruit ever tasted. It is something of the nature of the pawpaw and will not bear transportation. It grows on trees about the size of apple trees and is plentiful. The papia is what I call the lazy man's muskmelon. It is a species of melon about seven inches in diameter and seldom more than fifteen to eighteen feet tall, while around the top of the trunk, as is the case with coconuts and all palm trees, is a cluster of fruit-the shape of a cucumber, some three inches in diameter and eight or ten inches long. The meat is golden yellow and very rich and about half a bushel or more grow on each tree. Bread fruit and other fruits abound, though oranges and lemons are little cultivated, as something else pays better.

The food of the aboriginal islander or "Kanakas," as they are called, is the taro plant, a tuber growing under ground like the potato or onion, generally in a wet place and quite prolific. With a stone in trough it is beaten to a pulp and sold in shape exhibiting white flags. When ready for the table the old timers used to put the mush like substance on a big wooden bowl called a calabash and sitting around it each would dip his fingers into the savory morsel and proceed to eat his meal.

Rice is quite a crop and is raised in a peculiar manner. The field is flooded and water oxen mouse colored, generally fat and sleek and loving to be in water, are hitched to a kind of a long rake which stirs the field into something like a lolly lolly mush and then the crop planted, but not the seed; the men go along with the plants such as we prepare for tomatoes and stick them into the mud in rows.

Bananas grow abundantly and must be raised in ridges with a canal of water. The blossom comes in a kind of cone about six inches and a half in diameter at the base. The stem hangs downward and the fruit points upward, making a strange appearance. The stalk resembles a corn stalk, only is much stronger and one bunch finished it when it is cut and a shoot or sucker takes its place.

The greatest crop of all is sugar and to it is devoted the greater part of the arable land. An interesting story is told of an early attempt to produce this crop. A company bought 2,500 acres on Island Maui and began the work of clearing and began the erection of a plant, which was very expensive. Their money gave out long before they were ready for business and being unable to raise any on the island they went to San Francisco in despair. No one heeded them till it was suggested that they try Speckles. He told them he would put up the money, but must run the business and they agreed, so he went to the university and asked for the best chemist available and one was sent to him who would answer the bill.

Speckles told him to go over to the island, dig up representative soils on the plantation, analyze them carefully and send word what would be the best fertilizer for the sugar crops, and the result was that while two tons in Louisiana to the acre is called a good crop, they were raising six in the "Ewa" (pronounced Ewa) plantation and once when the chemist tried himself he produced ten tons from one acre crop. Ewa stock is not on the market and owners of any quantity of it are independent for life.

The curse of the islands is the lantana bush, such as is sold in our conservatories as curiosities. It is about like hazel bushes with small thorns and once started it will soon take possession of a neglected field.

Many pages could be written of the flora of the islands, the native grasses and so many other things, but space will not permit.

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM.
George W. Koon, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began to use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could not move and on Wednesday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast." Sold by L. P. Alcott, druggist.

The Chicago Sunday Tribune.

C. A. Briggs' "The Days of Real Sport" calls up the past like a magic mirror held against the memory. Everyone who ever was a boy will at once recognize in these delightful pictures his own boyhood days, yes, the very companions he played and fought with, the very episodes he figured in, and he will live again happy days forgotten and laugh and chuckle and roar and pound his knee and be a boy again. There has never been anything pictured or written more wonderfully true to life, more laughable than this true story in pictures of universal boyhood. They are well worth preserving, and every Sunday brings a fresh one, seemingly with one more ha-ha than the last.

CELEBRATES EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY

HENRY L. JACKSON PROBABLE OLDEST LIVING NATIVE.

Although Somewhat Feeble, He Still Remembers Very Clearly, Incidents From His Childhood—Rode On First Railroad in County.

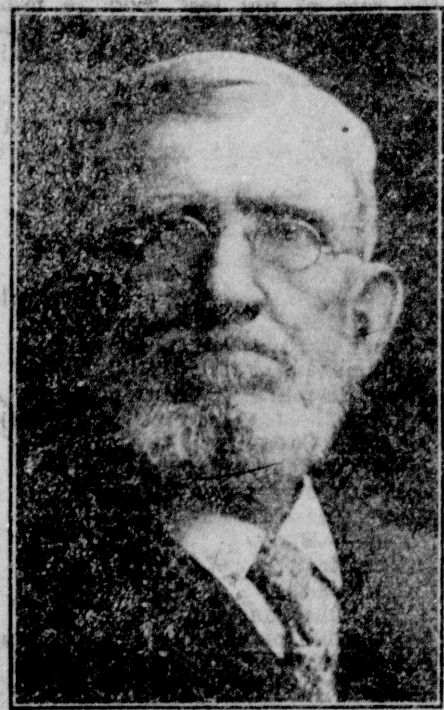

With the distinction of being one of the oldest, if not the oldest living native of Jacksonville and Morgan county, Henry L. Jackson of 522 West Reed street, quietly celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday Thursday. Although having attained this advanced age Mr. Jackson still remembers very clearly incidents of his childhood, when Jacksonville was a mere village with only a few small stores, and not even sidewalks.

Born in a log cabin on a farm northwest of Jacksonville, March 6, 1827, Mr. Jackson has watched Jacksonville grow from a small village to its present size and has also seen the commercialization of numerous inventions, such as steam engine, matches, electric light, electric cars, stoves, telephone, telegraph, etc. Mr. Jackson is a son of William Jackson who was born August 2, 1788 in North Carolina and first went to Indiana where he was in the ranger service during the war of 1812. After the close of the war Mr. Jackson married (June 15, 1815) and came to Illinois in 1822, landing in Jacksonville on July third of that year. He entered 160 acres of land (that which Jacob Ornellas now owns) and it was on this farm that Henry L. Jackson was born. William Jackson helped drive the stake where the village of Jacksonville was first located and he and a man named Arnett treated to a gallon of whiskey for the privilege of naming Jacksonville, and gave the city its present name in honor of General Jackson. William Jackson was killed in a runaway with a mule, the accident occurring near the present junction of the railroads November 3, 1857, when he was 69 years of age.

Born in Log Cabin. In speaking of his birthplace Mr. Jackson laughingly remarked that like some presidents of the United States, he was born in a log cabin and had split some rails, but had never been president. He gave a very clear and interesting account of some of the happenings of his long life and the story is substantially as follows:

"During my life a good many things have occurred in and around Jacksonville and I never could call any other place home. My earliest recollections are those of the big snow, of which there has been so much talk, and which fell during the winter of 1830-31. I remember as though it were yesterday, of piling up a huge pile of snow and forming steps on one side, climbing up the steps and then sliding down on the other side. A very peculiar incident that occurred at that time and one which I never will forget, was that of a cow that was stranded in the snow. The animal was out and when it started to snow would not move, standing in one place until the snow was so deep that it could not be taken out, as the snow on the level was three feet deep. The cow stayed in that hole in the snow and we had to carry its feed to it. Our house stood a short distance from a timber where we got our fuel and it was with difficulty that father broke a path to get wood to the house. He first dug a path large enough to get a team of oxen to the timber and then after felling a tree, hitched the oxen to it and in dragging it to the house, a good path was made. As near as I can remember the snow fell in December and remained on the ground until spring.

Town Was Quite Small. "At the time of my earliest recollections Jacksonville was quite a small place. There were practically no houses west of Church street and none south of the brook, while the east and north limits did not extend any farther out. At one time there was a mill and a distillery across the brook on the west side of South Main and I remember quite well of going to the mill with father, taking corn there on horse back. Where the LaCrosse lumber yard now stands there was located a card mill, owned by Mr. March and south of this establishment on the same street was a tan yard, owned I believe by a man named Hackett. I also remember of seeing a water mill that was located where the dam at Morgan Lake is. This was what was called an over-shot mill owned by a man named Pulliam. Dundip's later owned the establishment and rebuilt the dam.

"When I was a boy I remember hearing the men and my father talk about building the railroad through Jacksonville and on to Mercedosa. I heard them speak of the train running on rails and that they expected to have it arranged to carry passengers. I had ridden over quite a number of bridges built of rails and at that time I could not imagine how they could build a railroad with rails and make it so that people could ride on it. The road as I remember it, came through the F. M. Springer property on Howe street, on through the property on which the School for the Blind is now located and there it turned into State street, through the park and out West State street, turning off just about where the high school building now stands and running north-west until it struck the present Wash right-of-way. After the road had been completed father took the family for a ride on the train to Mercedosa, and although I have tried several times to find a man who has ridden on the train, I haven't been successful. There may be some of them living but it is very doubtful. When they were building the road my eldest brother hauled rock from Exeter with an ox team for the rock bridge just east of the city.

Cut Wheat With Reap Hooks. "Reap hooks were used in cutting wheat in the early days, the men taking hold of a bunch of wheat with one hand and cutting it off with a sort of a curved knife. When I was old enough to do this kind of work they had what was called a scythe and cradle, an ordinary scythe with several forks the length of the blade, attached to the handle so that when the wheat was cut it would fall back on these forks. Solomon Simmons had 20 acres of wheat near the Insane, when it was first started and I and a colored man cut that field with a scythe and cradle. That was in 1847 and we got $1 per day for the work. I have cradled wheat for a Mr. Craig, father of George Craig of Woodson, for 62 1/2 cents per day. In 1847 my brother and I out and cradled 7 3/4 acres of wheat for Mr. Craig on the Fourth of July, for which we received $1.12 1/2. In those days we had no five or ten cent pieces, the common coins in circulation then being a "bit", 12 1/2 cents, and the penny, 6 1/4 cents.

"We had no stoves when I was a boy, all of the cooking being done at a fireplace. Matches were also unknown and when the fire went out we went to a neighbors to borrow fire. When it was raining we would start a fire with an old flint lock gun that father had in the house, and this would take about as much time as going to the neighbors, well remember the first matches and the first stove that I saw was one my father got from St. Louis. Lamps were also rare and we used tallow candles, trading apples with Ed Lambert for the tallow. Mr. Lambert had a slaughter house near the pre-

Knew Stephen A. Douglas. In looking over a list of some of the oldest settlers in Jacksonville that was printed in a local paper, Mr. Jackson saw the name of a Mr. May, representative. "That name reminds me of quite a laughable incident," said Mr. Jackson. "My father had a sugar camp on the farm and Mr. May and Stephen A. Douglas, who were intimate friends, came out to spend Sunday at the camp. Mr. May was a man about 6 feet tall and Mr. Douglas was rather small, wore a cut away coat with brass buttons and a stove-pipe hat. Our folks had found a bee tree on the farm and had cut it down. The two men went to see the tree and Mr. Douglas wanted to see the bees. Mr. May stood to one side while Mr. Douglas looked into the tree and when the bees started out after the little fellow May laughed at him. Douglas, however, soon turned the tables by running behind May and of course he being the larger man and hiding Douglas, the bees got on him. Another incident of that day that I remember was when Douglas climbed a hickory sapling and was unable to get down. He had seen me climb them and have them bend over to the ground, and thought he would try it. When he got about ten feet up the sapling started to bend, but would not bend very far, as Mr. Douglas would not climb higher. He called to Mr. May for assistance and the tall man reached to the top of the sapling, which was bent part way over, pulled it toward the ground so that Mr. Douglas could get down.

"Dennis Rockwell, Mr. Titus, Murry McConnell, Matt Stacy who issued my marriage license, the Carsons, Daniels, Henderson and Buckingham are among others mentioned in this list that I knew. A Dr. Chandler here was one of whom I had heard. After I was old enough to remember the folks told me that I had a small finger on my left hand, that grew out from the joint of my little finger, and that Dr. Chandler cut it off. Dr. Gillette, was another that I recall quite vividly. He was the only doctor who gave me any medicine until after I had grown and he doctored my father's family for years. Some others of the list are E. T. Miller, Jacob Barten, who made what were called half-bushels, George Richards, whom I assisted in surveying, a Mr. Ingalls and Garrison W. Barry. Porter Clay was another of the old settlers that resided here at that time though I don't remember of seeing his name mentioned in any of the accounts of the old days. He lived near the old Prof. Turner property and the first money I ever earned was dropping corn in the field for him, for which I received 25 cents per day. There was also a Mr. Jordan who resided near the hospital and I remember Col. John J. Hardin and Charles Hardin, with whom I went hunting on several occasions, game being plentiful in those days."

Has Remarkable Memory. Mr. Jackson is of a family of people who have lived to a ripe old age. His oldest brother was 89 years of age when he passed away, his oldest sister 87 and the next sister 87. Although at the advanced age of 86 his memory of things of his childhood and early life are most vivid remembering them much better than happenings of ten years ago, he says.

February 26, 1840 Mr. Jackson was married to Salina Bacon who passed away some seventeen years ago. They were the parents of eleven children, four of whom have passed away. The names of the children follow: Shelton Jackson of Creston, Ia.; William Henry of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Evaline, deceased; Charles, deceased; Joseph of this city; Elbert of Charleston; Carrie May, deceased; Mary Ann, wife of Albert Sieber of this city;

George deceased; Edwin and Arthur of this city. Mrs. Richard Jewsbury of Litchberry who is 81 years of age, is a sister of Mr. Jackson. For four years Mr. Jackson served the city of Jacksonville as a policeman, the first under the Wesley Mathers administration, the two years following during Edward Greenleaf's administration and the fourth year under Henry Thompson. He is a carpenter by occupation, but has been retired for some years and is making his home with his son, Arthur Jackson.

There was no formal observance of his birthday, but during the day many friends called to extend their congratulations and best wishes for many more birthdays.

What Is "Sure Fatten Hog Food"

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil meal and five times as much as mummings, shorts, shipstuffs, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE recommended by all leading experiment stations.

It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sack, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD," analysis as above. It is the ideal feed to balance rations.

What "Sure Fatten Hog Food" Tankage Does.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby, saving one third of the feed bill, one third of the labor, one third of the risk, increasing profits one third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, a d more fat, hence market-topper hogs. SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs ship well with small shrink.

While in nowise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy hogs.

GREAT CUNARDER WILL ECLIPSE ALL OTHER VESSELS

Aquitania Will be Launched Within Few Weeks—Tonnage is Greater Than That of the Olympic or Ill-fated Titanic.

Glasgow, March 6.—During the past few months the work of building the new Cunarder liner Aquitania has proceeded so rapidly that her builders, the firm of John Brown and Company, of Clydebank, expect to have her ready for launching in about four weeks. Owing to the extraordinary size of the vessel the Clyde river is being deepened and widened opposite the shipyard, in anticipation of the launching.

It is many years since there was the same amount of interest attached to the building of a new liner for transatlantic service as is shown in the Aquitania. This interest is due almost wholly to the extreme size of the vessel. In her present condition on the slips at Clydebank she presents a wonderful spectacle, appearing something like an eleven-storied skyscraper in course of construction.

The Aquitania will have a gross tonnage of 50,000 tons, or 5,000 tons greater than the Olympic, the largest ship now afloat. The Aquitania and the Hamburg-American liner Imperator, now building at Stettin, will have the same gross tonnage, though in other measurements the Cunarder will eclipse the German vessel. The dimensions of the Aquitania are 855 feet length and 95 feet beam, while those of the Imperator are 710 feet length and 90 feet beam.

Largest Ever Built. Ever since the contract for the Aquitania was awarded to the Clydebank builders in December, 1910, it has been generally known that the new vessel was to be the largest ship ever built; but it has not been generally realized how much larger the ship was to be than any of the huge liners which have excited wonder in the past by their great proportions.

As already stated the new vessel will have a much greater tonnage than the White Star liners Olympic and her sister ship, the ill-fated Titanic. These record-breakers of but a few years ago, the Baltic and the Adriatic, length 709 feet and tonnage 23,000 and 24,000 respectively, are not to be compared with the Aquitania.

Brought to land, the Aquitania would dwarf great works of which man has long been prone to boast. The Washington monument in the United States capital, whose 555 feet was for years the world's record for high construction, would make only a fair prop for the new steamer leaning against it. The big thing of the sea would overtop the famous Woolworth building in New York city by more than 100 feet.

The speed of the new vessel will be about 23 knots an hour. This is considerably less than the records of some of the transatlantic liners now in service, but is considered fast enough for all practical purposes. The interior furnishings and decorations of the Aquitania are planned on the most lavish scale, and she will in every way merit the description of a floating city. She will have accommodations for 650 first class passengers, 740 second class, and 2400 steerage passengers. How greatly the new vessel will exceed all others in the nature of the passenger accommodations is shown by the fact that the first class staterooms are to be 50 per cent larger than the customary size.

New Features Introduced. With so much space available features are possible that have never before been introduced. There will be a choice of dining rooms, a restaurant, grill, tea room, tea garden, rathskeller, palm gardens, women's salons in different decorative periods, swimming pool, Turkish baths, gymnasium and tennis courts. A completely new feature will be a completely equipped theatre. It is said that a theatrical company with a repertoire of plays will be provided for the vessel by a New York manager.

The Aquitania will be as complete in her safety devices as in her luxurious equipment. The number of her life-boats and rafts will meet all requirements of the new regulations of the British board of trade, while the number of her watertight compartments will be greater than those of any vessel now afloat. An automatic device on the bridge will control the great steel doors separating the compartments, making it possible for a single hand to close them all in case of danger. Furthermore the system will include an electrical indicator by which the officer on the bridge cannot fail to detect any defect in the working of the safety devices. Still another set of safety devices will guard against fire in every part of the ship. In addition, the vessel will be equipped with a powerful wireless system which will enable her to keep in constant communication with the land during the entire passage across the Atlantic.

THE TEMPERATURES. The temperatures for Thursday according to G. H. Hall, weather observer at Alexander, were: maximum 33, minimum 13.

WERE OLD TIME FRIENDS OF MARK TWAIN.

St. Louis Globe Gives Picture of Five Missouri Women Who Knew Famous Author in Boyhood Days.

A dispatch to the St. Louis Globe from Hannibal, Mo., says: "During a recent investigation of the Hannibal Commercial club regarding the boyhood chums of Mark Twain it came to light that four Hannibal women and one woman, a resident of Palmyra, Mo., twenty miles from this city, were among the few now living that were chums of the late humorist during his boyhood days in Hannibal. They are: Mrs. Frances Kimmell, Mrs. Amelia Ballou, Mrs. Frances E. Velle and Mrs. Laura H. Frazer, all of Hannibal, and Mrs. Tabitha Greening of Palmyra, Mo.

"There are but few women now living who were close friends and chums of Mark Twain. Mrs. Greening was a first cousin of the humorist and she tells many interesting events of his early life that he failed to narrate. Mrs. Laura H. Frazer, less, was a sweetheart of Twain and is the 'Becky' Thatcher, a principal character in Twain's 'Tom Sawyer,' one of his most successful books. Mrs. Frazer did not know that she was 'Becky' Thatcher until Mark Twain visited here in 1902. Twain was asked by George W. Dulany who the character 'Becky Thatcher' in 'Tom Sawyer' represented and in reply the humorist named Mrs. Frazer as the party.

Mrs. Velle received musical instructions from Twain's sister and when she visited the Clemens home she was the object of much teasing on the part of Twain. Mrs. Kimmell and Mrs. Ballou are sisters and they can remember many details of Twain's early life, having been playmates of the humorist."

VEHICLE LICENSE. The vehicle tax for the year 1913 is now due and payable and all owners of vehicles are requested to make prompt settlement and avoid further expense. R. L. Pyatt, city clerk.

TO AMEND REVENUE ARTICLE.

The present tax amendment movement, endorsed by the 18th Annual State Farmers' Institute at Sterling on February 20, in the following language: 'Resolved that we favor an amendment to the constitution permitting the adoption of improved methods of taxation', dates back to 1907.

In the legislative session of that year, a resolution to submit to the people an amendment to the revenue article permitting the classification of personal property, and designed to make the effective assessment of escaping personal property possible was introduced in the Senate. The argument was raised, however, that the question needed more light and investigation, and the Senate killed the amendment, but reported a bill providing for a special tax commission to be appointed jointly by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House. This bill passed but was vetoed on technical grounds.

In the following session (1909) a new bill, giving the Governor the appointing power, was enacted, and in March, 1910, the Governor appointed the Illinois Special Tax Commission composed of Messrs Ben F. Caldwell of Springfield; the late A. M. Craig, Galesburg; A. P. Grout, Winchester; Edmund J. James, Urbana; Harrison B. Riley, John P. Wilson and B. L. Winchell, Chicago. This commission, after working for many months presented an exhaustive report, in accord with the reports of experts in most of the other states of the Union, and the substance of their findings was that there could be no effective improvement in the wretched taxing system of Illinois without giving the Legislature power to enact modern laws.

This was the sole purport of the amendment proposed, and it is interesting to note that it is in entire accord with the spirit of the report of a still earlier commission appointed by Governor Richard J. Oglesby in 1886. The movement to amend the revenue article of the constitution therefore is probably one of the oldest and best studied of all the amendments that have been produced.—H.

WILL CHRISTEN STEAMER ST. LOUIS

Miss Julia Jane Bates, a debutante of the present season, daughter of Charles F. Bates, a retired capitalist and Mrs. Nancy C. Maffit Bates, will christen the new steamer St. Louis at 1:30 p. m. Saturday as she lies at the foot of Olive street, St. Louis. Miss Bates will break a bottle of champagne on the forward capstan and remark: "I christen thee, St. Louis." DANGER FROM PNEUMONIA Lessened By Healthy Conditions. At this season pneumonia is prevalent in many localities. Every year during the cold, damp weather this dread disease claims its victims by the hundreds.

The best possible preventative of pneumonia is to keep the system in a strong healthy condition and not allow one's vital resistance to become lowered and if, perchance, the system should become run-down or a chronic cough or cold develop which is hard to cure, take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil.

Mrs. Ellen Lytle, of Lima, Ohio, says: "I was weak, nervous and run-down, and pronounced by doctors to have a serious lung trouble. I was despaired of by all, but I read in the newspapers what Vinol had done for others and decided to try it. I took six bottles of Vinol and am now in perfect health and never felt better in my life. I weighed 108 pounds when I began to take Binol. I weighed last week 140 pounds."

Try Vinol on our guarantee. Lee P. Alcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Illinois.

THE WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

MARKET AGAIN TAKES SLUMP MOVEMENT APPEARS TO RE-FLECT ONLY PASSING MOOD OF OPERATORS.
Traders Are Cautiously Awaiting Developments of Sufficient Significance to Serve as Guide Posts—Few Important Stocks Lose More Than Point.
(By Associated Press)
New York, March 6.—In response to another shift in speculative sentiment stocks sold off today. Trading was not large and the movement appeared to reflect little more than the passing mood of professional operators. On Monday stocks were marked up, on Tuesday they were put down, on Wednesday up and today down. Traders are feeling their way, while awaiting developments of sufficient significance to serve as guide posts. In this connection much importance is attached to the first acts of the new national administration. It is realized that some time will pass before anything definite is known.
Few important stocks today lost more than a point. There was some profit-taking as well as renewed bear selling on theory that the long position had been weakened by recent active covering.
American tobacco over 7 points making its decline in the last two days 12 points, which, however, was reduced by a rally late in the day.
Other tobacco stocks were heavy.
The urgency of Berlin's financial requirements was indicated today by raising of the Germany bids for money in this market to 6 1/2 per cent for funds to April 30. It is understood that loans were placed at this figure. Further strength was shown in the foreign exchange market today rates for both sterling and continental exchange rising.

WHEAT MARKET
Price Advances
EXPORT SALES HELP HOIST
WHEAT PRICE.
(By Associated Press)
Chicago, March 6.—Export sales here today hoisted wheat a cent a bushel. Leading houses attempted to sell out at the top and caused a reaction, but the close was steady, 1/4 to 1/2c above last night. Corn finished unchanged to a sixteenth up, oats with a gain of 1/4 to 1/2c and provisions varying from a shade of to 25 @ 27 1/2c advance.
Wheat had a checked course for the day. Higher prices the first hour were followed by a break to the low point of the week. Then came the sudden surge and later a quick sag.
Bullish reports on the poor quality of wheat remained in Germany, big reserves in the Dakotas and Minnesota and finally the revival of export demand here formed the news developments that successively governed quotations.
Minneapolis reports that the quality of wheat receipts had been running poor served as an offset to some extent for the continued liberal arrivals there and at Duluth. On the other hand, all reports concerning the winter crop were on the side of sellers.
Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 371,000 bushels, primary receipts of wheat were 594,000 bushels against 322,000 bushels a year ago. Bull leaders gave the corn market good support on breaks.
Wheat strength was also an aid.
Contract influences were the cold clear weather and the meagerness of shipping demand. Oats had an appearance of strength but mainly because there was little or no pressure to sell. Pork advanced sharply, despite much profit-taking and closed at the highest price of the year.
Other provisions were firm in sympathy. Blame was placed on the scarcity of hogs.

Miss Clara Deters was detained at home Thursday on account of illness. James W. York, who has been confined to his home on West Lafayette avenue by sickness, is now greatly improved and was down town yesterday afternoon.

NO CONFERENCE HELD.

The conference of Morgan County Republicans and Progressives announced to be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Ayers National bank did not materialize or at any rate no such assembly could be found there at the hour appointed. Thus far there is no avowed Republican candidate for commissioner at the primary election to be held April 8. County Clerk Boruff said yesterday that the law requires that petitions be filed at least thirty days before the holding of an election and that therefore Saturday would be the final chance for filing.

REMOVAL NOTICE.

I have moved my stock of groceries from the corner of Anna and West streets to the building vacated by Mr. Stumb at 1000 South Clay avenue, where I will have larger quarters and will be able to carry a more extensive stock than was true at my old location. I will carry only the best goods and the public can rely on the lowest possible prices. Soliciting the continued patronage of my customers at the old store and that of many new one, I will offer every day real grocery bargains.
